Bethel Man Wins State JC Award

Announcement of awards as outstanding young men of the year to three men was made at the annual award dinner of the Maine Junior Chamber of Commerce at Portland Saturday night.

Named were Stanley E. Davis, 33, founder and president, Stanley Davis Builder and Davis Building Supply in Bethel; Joseph P. Savignano, 29, Auburn Police juvenile division, and organizer of the Auburn Teen-Age Council, and Walter F. Tweedie, 32, president of the Mars Hill Development Corp.

Mr. Davis is a native of Bethel and attended schools here and Gould Academy. He was graduated from New York State Agriculture and Technical Institute in 1951, and founded his building firm the same year. Since then he has built 65 homes in the Bethel-Rumford area, including the new Swift River Park Development in Rumford. Besides teaching in the Methodist Sunday School, he is a member of the superintending school committee and a director of Sunday River Skiway. He is married and the father of five.

The awards were presented by Thomas C. Mennealy, state Jaycee president before 1955 Jaycees, former Jaycees, and industrialists at Valle's Steak House.

Dr. Lloyd H. Elliot, president of the University of Maine, told the Jaycees that economic development in Maine depends heavily on improvement on her educational facilities.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The following article was taken from The Maine Townsman, and is appropriate at this season of the year as town meeting approaches.

The subject of taxes has always been an unpopular one; yet throughout history there seems to be no better way to finance local government. Because taxation is unpopular, the people have made it compulsory for everyone to pay according to his just valuation. Fortunately, the people have the say, by vote, of what services they want in their community, and the say, by vote, of how much they are willing to spend for each item. The community is a large corporation and everyone entitled to vote is a stockholder.

Actually paying taxes is a privilege, for the taxpayer is buying the services which most people could not purchase singlehandedly. For instance, how many people could afford private education for their children; build miles of road to get them to school; sand, salt, and tar the roads; put in a water and sanitary sewer system; or care for the aged and poor? Yet banded together and sharing the equalized expenses, we have all these things. What does it add up to?

It adds up to one thing: You are buying civilization. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, of the U. S. Supreme Court, rendered a decision on the constitutional right to tax, he said there was a right to tax because you are "buying civilization." As you think of the municipal services bought with taxes, you are buying civilization.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

SUNDAY RIVER SKI CLUB ADJUSTS AND EXPANDS JR. PROGRAM

Due to the unforeseen interest in the Ski Club junior instructional program, the officers and executive committee have been forced to adjust the program and expand it.

This Saturday, Jan. 28, while the change-over is being made there will be classes for the following groups only: 1. Beginners who have not mastered the snowplow turn. 2. Those juniors listed on the bulletin board for time trials for the junior ski team.

Specifically, the intent of the ski club instructional program was and is to help beginners to reach a reasonable mastery of the snowplow turn—a point at which professional instruction is needed to properly develop a youngster in the further skills of skiing. (We don't send our children to a mechanic when dentistry is needed nor to a ditch-digger when they need a doctor, so why should we expect them to benefit beyond the basic turns with amateur instruction when they need professional help?) Therefore, for safety reasons as well as because of limited instructional ability of our amateurs, the club program of amateur instruction will cease for each youngster whenever he or she has a reasonable mastery of the snowplow turn. However, the officers are currently working on the details of a plan which it is hoped and expected will allow all our junior members to making sound, safe progress in skiing to the full limits of their increasing abilities; this time in the Sunday River Ski School where they should be for best, safest and quickest results and enjoyment. We expect this plan, which will require the cooperation and assistance of all parents without personal financial requirements, to go into effect during the first week in February. Full details will be available by this coming week end.

A second intent of the Ski Club is to develop a junior ski team. This Saturday, January 28th, our instructors and a representative of the Ski School will select fifteen juniors by time trials. From this group ten will finally be selected to represent the club in competition with other junior clubs. The other five will be carried as alternates. Our racing instructors and Nils Torjesen will work with this group for the balance of the season. At present we have scheduled a meet with Auburn for the 4th of February and it is possible that the team will be taken to the State meet in Rumford on Feb. 11th.

The jumping program already started will be continued to develop competitive jumpers for the junior team.

Parents and all interested adults can be of great help in furthuring this junior program by taking out supporting membership in the club at $1.

The entertainment committee of the club is making plans for two dances for the juniors and two for adults during the remainder of the season. The first will be a fashion show and dance for the adults on Feb. 17th. Full details will be posted soon.

The club will have all the junior memberships in the U. S. E. A. S. A. available for distribution at the ski lodge this week end where they may be picked up at the club registration desk.

At the executive committee meeting Tuesday evening it was voted to forthwith limit the junior membership to 150 youngsters and to hold all available memberships for local youngsters or regular visitors to the Skiway.

Bellevue Falls, were recent callers on their cousins the Mrs. Lillian Herrick, Ella Rolfe and Maude Kilbridge.

Wade Herrick spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Herrick, returning to Norway Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lord and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sanderson went to Dixfield Sunday to visit Mr. Lord's granddaughter, Mrs. Mahlon Cochran, and family. Mrs. Cochran is also Mrs. Sanderson's niece.

Don't forget our lovely birds these cold days, and give them a handout. They have a hard time to find food in winter.

This has been a very cold week end. The temperature ranged from 14 to 21 below here according to high or low ground.

The Union School watched the inauguration in Washington from 11 to 12:15 Friday. Stanley Andrews very kindly gave the use of a TV for this purpose which the school appreciated very much. Ellis Davis brought it down from Bryant Pond and Harlan Andrews returned it to Stanley Andrews store. Many thanks to all of them for their help.

The club will have all the junior memberships in the U. S. E. A. S. A. available for distribution at the ski lodge this week end where they may be picked up at the club registration desk.

At the executive committee meeting Tuesday evening it was voted to forthwith limit the junior membership to 150 youngsters and to hold all available memberships for local youngsters or regular visitors to the Skiway.

UPTON

— Mrs. C. A. Judkins, Cor. —

We are having another spell of a few days of sub-zero weather and a snow storm on Friday, Jan. 20th, but not nearly as much as TV tells us fell in Washington, D. C.

Edward and Lucien Bernier came up from Norway to help their father, Roland Bernier, for a few days last week, cutting pulpwood, returning to Norway, Sunday afternoon.

Several people from out-of-town have been bob-cat hunting lately.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Fuller and children of Peru recently called on his father, Leslie Fuller.

The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Garey of Sunday River visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lombard last Saturday.

Floyd Staples of Peru, and Norman and Malcolm Enman of Errol, N. H. called in town Sunday.

Judy Judkins and Juanita Bernier were home from Gould Academy over the week end.

Fred S. Judkins took the Town Books to Rumford Monday, January 23rd, to have them audited.

An unusual occurrence happened last Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Judkins were entertaining their granddaughter, Judy, when Mrs. Judkins glanced out the window and saw a large fox running along the main road by the Church. In one half minute another one followed, running fast. They both ran along the main road for a short distance then one turned and came back along the same route, hesitated a moment by Judkins driveway, then turned and fled back down Mill Street, the same way they had come.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

RABBIT BALLET

Probably cottontails have not been informed, but they are no longer classified as rodents. Scientists have discovered that the cottontails have an arrangement of teeth which makes them lagomorphs.

A rabbit leads a precarious life, with hawks, owls, wildcats and foxes always looking for him. But on a moonlit, star-studded winter night when the bunnies gather for a frolic in a hemlock-surrounded glade, one would never suspect they were thinking of danger.

One memorable winter's night the countryman watched the ballet beneath the moon and stars. Back and forth across the snow-stage floor the rabbits raced and leaped, twibled and turned. A dozen blithe spirits jumped high in the air, flashed over and below each other, made sudden stops and unexpected off-slant leaps. From the security of a densely-branched tree, a man watched in wonder as the wildlife played. Not a sound reached human ears as the rabbits expressed the deep-lying instinct of joy, expressed in free-flowing energy.

In terms of man-made events it was insignificant. In terms of Nature's lesson to man, it was deep in meaning. For man, ceaselessly, restlessly striving for self-advancement, often forgets that life is more than material gain. The rabbit ballet in the beauty of a moonlit January night tells us there is more to the trail of years than self-seeking. The Great Spirit means for all of us to take time to enjoy the non-material riches around us.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR...

East Bethel, Maine
January 23, 1961
The Oxford County Citizen
Bethel, Maine

With reference to your publication entitled "Bethel Mothers' Views on Home Work" appearing in your Thursday, January 19th edition I would like to make the following brief comments:

1. I personally picked up the question box at the conclusion of the last two P. T. A. meetings which were held on December 20th and January 17th and there was not a single question contained therein.

2. All questions submitted that are pertinent to the welfare and education of our children and therefore subject matter for the P. T. A. will, if time allows, be presented to the parent and teacher members for discussion and action.

Lincoln D. Fiske

In my last week's letter to the parents and teachers, it seems that I hurt the feelings of two teachers. It would be most interesting to know how they knew who wrote it so soon after the paper was out, but that's beside the point. If I had a special "bone to pick" with any teacher, I would go to her and we would "pick it." My name was omitted from the close of the letter. I was careful to not mention names and, I don't know who to blame for the situation in the first place—so how could I be holding any teacher up for ridicule?

With my mind open to suggestions that might be beneficial, I would react it very much if a teacher told me how to run my home. I'll not attempt to tell our teachers how to teach. I was reminded that I don't visit school very often. That is true, but it by no means indicates that I'm not interested in what goes on there. I admit an error in publishing what my kids did at school that day. They should not have been drawn in to this that directly and I hope those who read the letter will realize that I used the children's information—not verified at school. I was not quoting anyone. I wrote the situation as I see it which is our heritage.

The Rebel Mother

In answer to Bethel Mother's Views on Homework and to the Editor who was so "pleased to present" it.

The letter is so horribly full of inaccuracies that I feel the teacher's stand should be defended.

First, by fantastic powers of deduction, which was necessary for me to use, I decided that Child No. 1 must be in my grade. However, the schedule was extremely distorted.

May I start at the very beginning of the mis-information. I, for one, never told this very nice little sixth grader to "get help from your parents, if you don't understand it." I have yet to resort to this sort of procedure.

As to the confusion caused by examples on "page 11"—real on page 55. There really is no problem there. The books are described there, and the supplementary work is necessary to aid the child in his knowledge of this subject.

So, dear mother, if you do offend me much, as this mother has never visited my room. I welcome a call from her at any time and feel sure she might find a bit of confusion at times. May I state here, that if she had 38 children, I'm sure her kitchen would get in a state of turmoil once in a while.

As to homework, I teach two classes in arithmetic and endeavor to cover most of the material in class—therefore no homework in that area. With three fine sets of reference books in my classroom, the individual pupil has ample material on hand for other class work. Nearly all of them take advantage of this and do a commendable job of research. A recent project on PLANETS proves this conclusively. The work was well done, and they all had a tremendous interest in what they were doing. I assure you that there was PLANETING involved here, much of it by the pupil himself. We teach a child to be self-reliant. It's really surprising, parents, what your children can do if they are given the opportunity.

It is excellent for parents to have an interest in school work. Why shouldn't they? Who has a better right? Each teacher would appreciate an interview, I am sure. If problems arise, please do not take the child's viewpoint alone, and as absolute fact. They mean well. I know, because I have had three of my own, and know from whence I speak. They often thought they had problems, but by the time both sides of the question were heard, life was once again worth living.

When I phoned the writer of the letter, she very graciously told me she would be glad to rectify the misstatements. I trust she will do so. She also told me how well her child was progressing in my arithmetic class—but she forget to mention that in her column.

Last year, a letter filled with erroneous statements, was also printed in this local paper. No attempt was made to refute the incorrect statistics by the powers that be. This time, I feel that someone should try to uphold the honor of the teaching profession. I am sure you will understand.

I would like to accurately present my Thursday schedule. (The only day which includes Glee Club.)

Morning: 8:15, Opening Exercises and lunch count; 8:25-9:00, Glee Club; 9:05-10:00, Arithmetic, one class; Recess; 10:20-11:45, Arithmetic, second class and my Spelling (my grade has English in another room); Noon: 12:45-1:45, Reading; 1:45-2:15, Classroom Music (alternating Health and Science); 2:15-2:45, Social Studies.

It would be well to remember that we readers are a gullible folk, but real facts and kind information will sell a good newspaper as well as inaccurate bits of gossip.

TODAY'S meditation

Thursday, January 26
Read Colossians 3:12-17
Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus. (Philippians 2:5).

One sunny spring morning I was a guest in a rural home in Minnesota. While I was sitting in the living room reading a book, my hostess came in. As we talked briefly, she went to the window and turned some flower pots. I asked her why she disturbed the lovely plants. She replied, "Plants grow toward the light; and if they are not turned occasionally, they do not grow straight."

After she left the room, I pondered what she had said. Growing toward the light became a searching test for me. I thought of Jesus' words, "I am the light of the world." Across the centuries I heard Him say again, "Learn of me."

The Christian life is not static, but expansive. There are always deeper insights to gain and loftier heights to scale. Even Paul confessed that he had not arrived, but still reached out for the goal. It is we who fix the limits of divine blessings we receive. It is not a question of God's willingness to give, but of our capacity and willingness to receive.

PRAYER: Help us, dear Father, to look unto Jesus, our Saviour and Master; and learn of Him: learn to trust Him as He did, to obey as He obeyed, to love as He loved, to walk as He walked, and to serve with His compassion.

In His name. Amen.

THE AMERICAN WAY

The Bible Stirs Man's Conscience

and will help my child as much as I can and I am also as much concerned with my children's education as anyone in town.

My children who have and some still are attending C. P. School are just average children. They are not what some referred to at the last P. T. A. meeting as "The Better Children" an expression which I do not like. I feel there is no such thing as a better child. Some may be a little smarter and a little quicker to learn than others. But as far as being "Better Children" that makes me boil.

Now to get back to home work. My children have it too, but of my three children who have or are still attending C. P. none have objected to doing their home work. I do agree the parents should not be expected to help them if they don't understand it. To begin with we we don't understand it ourselves and again isn't that what we have teachers for. I say the teachers should see to it that the children understand the work then let them bring some home and do it. They might as well spend an hour or so doing home work as to be running around the streets or watching some foolish program on T. V. like the "Three Stooges."

I also agree there is too much confusion in the classroom. I don't believe it is necessary and I'm sure the children would get a lot more out of school and would understand their work much better if there wasn't so much confusion.

I also would like to know just how much authority does a teacher have? When I went to school if a child needed punishment he got it. But now days if a teacher corrects some children the parents kick up a storm. I have even heard some children say the teacher doesn't dare punish me cause if she did my parents would have the law after her. This makes me boil too. I don't think the teachers are allowed to authority to discipline the children today.

I do think we need better planning and better discipline but most of all I think we need better cooperation between parents and teachers.

Then let the children do a little home work. It won't hurt them. I think our biggest trouble is we have given our kids too many breaks and have taken far too many ourselves.

OPEN LETTER

Bethel, Maine
January 21, 1961

Dear Ken Brooks:
I know you very well and the letter you put in answering the letter in the paper two weeks ago was appreciated. I am glad that someone did see it and your answer was greatly appreciated.

You brought out many points which I am sure many teens do not stop to consider, but still I think there is something that could be done. I do agree in that our parents should go again on Saturday evenings but again there are many who just sit home and complain about that car going by about 70 mph. There must be many who could help out. I would be willing to do my part and there probably are a few more around here who would be willing, but all we need is a little guidance. This could be taken into consideration.

As you say you hope the one who put the other letter in the paper would come to see you. Well, I don't think any person would because it might bother them. All they need is a little backing up.

The Odeon Hall is hardly ever in use and why not rock the place a little. I'll agree that the Community Room is a kind of small to hold anything of this sort without limiting the crowd to just Bethel. Could usually have something going on for us, but we don't care to go over there because we don't get to make new friends at all. There are many organiza-

The Maine Highway Safety Committee urges us to remember that the very young and the elderly are especially vulnerable in traffic. These junior and senior citizens are entitled to extra consideration walking in traffic. In spite of constant safety training, youngsters forget to be careful. As for the elderly, many of them have impaired sight and hearing and their reactions are usually slow. As drivers, we should remember and take these facts into consideration and give these youngsters and these older people more than an even break in traffic.

TAKES

"The fine art of executive decision consists in not deciding questions that are not now pertinent, in not deciding prematurely, in not making decisions that cannot be made effective, and in not making decisions that others should make." — The Go-Getter, publication of G. Fox and Co., Hartford.

"We are all rooting for the congressional committee which is looking into the income tax laws to do a just and impartial job of plugging the other fellow's loopholes." — Inside Farington, publication of Farington Manufacturing Company.

"The United States has met and beaten competition before. We can do so again. It is necessary not only to have the most productive machines and methods, but to use them most efficiently. Every man-hour used effectively is a contribution to better productivity; every man-hour that is not properly utilized is merely a cost." —

Whitin Spindle, publication of Whitin Machine Works, Whitinsville, Mass.

"What a blessing it would be if as many people were as interested in compact government as in compact cars." — Hi-Lines, publication of Western Massachusetts Electric Co.

"Regardless of how much money you have, wisdom has to be bought on the installment plan." — Marble Chips, publication of the Vermont Marble Company.

"What on earth will today's younger generation be able to tell their children they had to do without?" — The Bea—publication of the Bailey Company, Amesbury, Mass.

"Today there is $500 billion worth of life insurance in effect for the benefit of Americans. Each decline of only one cent in the value of the dollar robs us all of $5 billion of the value of our insurance." — Rudolph F. Bannow, President NAM.

"Unfortunately, businessmen have a great tendency to remain silent on legislative issues, until faced by a specific threat. Then they try to organize a brigade to fight the fire. The answer is to convince the public that, for the good of everyone, business must also be listened to, encouraged, and treated fairly." — General Electric News.

"A good business manager hires optimists for salesmen and pessimists to run the credit department." — Texon Topics, publication of Texon, Inc., South Hadley Falls, Mass.

"What more people are looking for is less to do, more time to do it in, and more pay for not getting it done." — The News, publication of Fitchburg Paper Company.

"There must be something to reincarnation, judging by the way some people come back to life at quitting time." — Executives' Digest.

"The modern bathtub was invented in 1850, and the telephone in 1875. So—if you had been alive in 1850, you could have sat in the bathtub for 25 years before you had to get out to answer the telephone. This illustrates that we can't have anything until someone invents it, and somebody produces it. If the most brilliant statesman had decided in 1874 that people should be able to talk to each other from their homes and offices all over the world, no act of legislation he could write would enable them to do it." — Charles L. Sligh, Jr., Executive Vice President, NAM.

SILVER STOCKS
An Interesting Speculation

There are mounting indications that a shortage of silver may be in the offing, a situation which presents an enviable opportunity for the patient investor to make a handsome profit. We strongly recommend the purchase of stocks of leading silver producers.

With the excitement over the price of gold, the upward pressures that have been developing for some time on the price of silver have been largely overlooked. The whole situation boils down to one of supply and demand. Silver consumption has greatly exceeded silver production for some years, and something is going to have to give. We believe that the "giving" will take the form of substantially higher prices for silver.

Since 1950, free world silver production has averaged slightly over 200-million ounces annually. In every year consumption has exceeded this figure, and in 1959 and 1960 (estimated) the excess of consumption over production was approximately 100-million ounces. In other words, 50% more silver was being used than was being produced.

The deficit has been made up by the melting of coins by various governments and by sales of the U. S. Treasury from its gigantic silver stocks. These unwanted stocks have come about as a result of congressional action in the 1930's. At that time a strong congressional bloc managed to have legislation adopted which required the Treasury to purchase any silver offered to it by U. S. producers at a set price, higher than the market price, until such time as total holdings became equivalent to 25% of the monetary reserves of the country. The result was to stimulate production until by 1943 the Treasury had over a billion ounces of surplus silver, and absolutely no use for it. Gradually the flow of silver reversed itself as demand increased and free prices rose above the Treasury price of 90¢-cents per ounce, the price set in 1946. Since 1950, this condition has prevailed continuously, and the Treasury has therefore been able to dispose of large stores of silver at the official selling price of 91¢-cents an ounce. This has caused a sharp reversal in the role of the Treasury, for whereas for years it kept the price artificially high, it has since 1956 been in the position of keeping the price down. This condition may soon come to an end, for at the present time (non-monetized) stocks of silver are down to 122-million ounces. Production and consumption figures for 1960 have not yet been released, but it is assumed that the situation last year was much as it was in 1959. The well is, therefore, rapidly running dry, and when it does, silver prices will, in our opinion, go up.

To participate in the possible rise in the price of silver, the following stocks might be considered on a purely speculative basis: Day Mines, New York & Honduras Rosario Mining Co., Sunshine Mining and United Keno Hill Mines. All of these have had erratic records, but because of their heavy dependence on silver a significant rise in silver prices would be a great benefit.

If the weather is above zero the report will be sent up at 4:15 p. m. The signals can be interpreted as follows: two fires will be lit and read from left to right looking from the village, the right fire will be read as units and the left fire will be read as tens. As example: 3 puffs from the left and 2 puffs from the right would mean that the temperature would read 32 degrees. The time above will indicate as to whether it is below or above zero.

AND WE DO THIS TO OURSELVES

No war crippled this man—nor thousands more injured day after day in traffic accidents. For this highway butchery, only we ourselves are to blame. We disregard laws made to protect us. Nearly every accident grows out of some violation. And casualties mount! They will lessen only if you help. So drive safely. Obey the law. Insist others do, too. Where traffic laws are strictly obeyed, accidents go down.

FACE THIS FACT

Drivers are the No. 1 cause of traffic accidents which last year injured 1,400,000 and killed 28,000. This year an increase is threatened. How long must this go on until YOU can supply the answer?

Published in an effort to save lives. In cooperation with the National Safety Council and The Advertising Council.

NEW MARCH OF DIMES DRIVE NEARS COMPLETION

The New March of Dimes fund raising drive will end on Tuesday, January 31st, with the "Mothers' march," which is familiar to everyone, as it symbolizes the spirit of Mothers seeking protection for their children and the children of the entire nation as they join together and unite for a determined and just cause. The "Mothers' march" will march with sincere feelings toward helping the thousands of sick and suffering peoples throughout these United States, afflicted with Polio, Birth Defects and Arthritis. Little can an individual realize the pain and suffering until he or she has had personal experience and contact with such afflictions, but these Mothers have open hearts and minds, and as a result are well aware of the need for research to conquer the sickness of mankind. The Mothers of the Nation march on Tuesday night, at seven o'clock in every town and city in the country—Will the people of Bethel do their part? Let's hope so as every contribution, regardless of size is needed to support the research and activities of the New March of Dimes. When a "Mother" rings you door bell, please say Yes.

We wish to thank the American Legion of Bethel for supporting the New March of Dimes by sponsoring a "Game Night" tomorrow evening at 7:30, at the Legion Building. A large variety of prizes will be given to include bed spreads, sheets, towels and food. Refreshments will be served. Let's all attend on Friday, Jan. 27. A good time is sure to be had by everyone. Should adverse weather prevail, transportation may be had by contacting the town chairman, prior to 6 P. M.

Our recent count still indicates that some of the "Mailers" have not been returned. If anyone has lost or misplaced the return envelope, please send your contribution to P. O. Box 148, Bethel.

FACT AND OPINION

Norvin R. Greene writes in National Review Bulletin: "Our machinery builders are finding that to continue foreign sales in volume it is essential to have production facilities in low-wage European countries such as Britain, France, Germany and the Netherlands...."

The combination of an outstanding research-minded engineering group in the United States tied to low-cost foreign producers adds up to a competitive situation in world markets. In time, investments abroad return foreign-earned dividend dollars to U. S. stockholders. They do not, however, create more jobs and wages for American workers who are pricing themselves out of the world market."

morous workers who have assisted in this current fund raising drive. Their work was given with the most pleasant spirit that could possibly have been desired.

Repetition and over emphasis can sometimes become boring to everyone regardless of the subject, but we feel that the objectives of the New March of Dimes cannot be over emphasized. This forthcoming year can be a normal and happy year for every child and adult in Bethel But what if Polio should strike?—or a child is born deformed?—or you or your child suddenly become afflicted with arthritis? What can be done? It may be too late for anything to be done except hospitalization and treatment unless steps are taken now to help prevent such cases from prevailing in Bethel. At the present time, Birth Defects and Arthritis cannot be prevented but Polio can. Please make arrangements soon to have the necessary shots as our cases in the next Polio season will be greatly cut down, and the abundant suffering eliminated. Once Polio is conquered the research can be increased in the fields of Birth Defects and Arthritis. Remember—you could have been one of the 189 cases last year. Please Say Yes.—Richard Thompson, Town Chairman.

We are only vulnerable and ridiculous through our pretensions. —Madame de Girardin

"Today, as an added benefit of their employment, most companies in America try to provide a parking space for every employee. Furthermore, the parking lot must be an extension of the company's present property. No one in his right mind would consent to crossing a street or turning a corner to reach his car at the end of the day."

"But we can remember the day—and we're dating ourselves now—when a parking space was not the most important thing in life. The most important thing was to have a job at all."—The Square & Crescent, publication of Morgan Construction Company, Worcester.
